Fast Facts on the Economies of California and Spain
Compiled by: Assembly Committee on Jobs, Economic Development, and the Economy
Assemblymember Sabrina Cervantes, Chair

If California were a country, it would stand among the ten largest economies in the world, with a 2017 state GDP of $2.7 trillion (5th largest in the world).i In 2017, California imports and exports totaled $612.6 billion, representing 15.7% of total U.S. imports and exports.ii

Profile on Spain

- The conventional long form of the county’s name is the Kingdom of Spain and the local short form of the name is España. The capitol of the country is Madrid.iii
- Spain is located in Southwestern Europe, comprising approximately 194,982 square miles. The country is slightly more than twice the size of Oregon.iv
- Spain has significant agricultural lands (54%) and areas forested (36.8%).v
- Spain has two autonomous cities (Ceuta and Melilla); 17 autonomous communities, including Balearic Islands and Canary Islands; and three Spanish possessions off the coast of Morocco.vi
- In July 2018, Spain’s population was estimated to be 49.3 million, ranking it the 28th largest by population in the world.vii
- 80.3% of the total population live in urban areas, with the largest urban areas being located along the Mediterranean and Atlantic coasts. Inland, there are three major cities (Madrid, Sevilla, and Zaragoza), as well as numerous smaller cities spread throughout the interior reflecting Spain’s agrarian heritage.viii
- Castilian Spanish is the official language. The European Charter for Regional or Minority Languages recognizes several regional languages in Spain, including Catalan (17% of the population), Galician (7%), Basque (2%), and Aranese (<5,000 speakers).ix

Spanish Government

- Spain is a member of the European Union.x
- Spain is organized as a parliamentary constitutional monarchy, with King Felipe VI serving as the chief of state. The monarchy is hereditary. Following each legislative election, the monarch “usually proposes as president the leader of the party or coalition with the largest majority of seats, who is then indirectly elected by the Congress of Deputies.”xi
- The next national election is scheduled for April 28, 2019.xii
- The head of government is Prime Minister PEDRO SÁNCHEZ Pérez-Castejón, who has served in this position since June 2018. The Prime Minister appoints the Deputy Prime Minister and the Council of Ministers.xiii
Spain has a bicameral legislative structure called the General Courts or “Las Cortes Generales” and is comprised of the Congress of Deputies or “Congreso de los Diputados” (350 members) and the Senate or “Senado” (266). Members serve four-year terms.

- 208 members of the 266 members of the Senate are directly elected in multi-seat constituencies by simple majority vote and 58 members indirectly elected by the legislatures of the autonomous communities. Senators serve four-year terms.
- 348 members of the 350 members of the Congress of Deputies are directly elected in 50 multi-seat constituencies by proportional representation vote and two are directly elected from the autonomous North African Ceuta and Melilla enclaves by simple majority vote.

Prime Minister Pedro Sánchez visited California in October 2018. This was the first visit of a Prime Minister of Spain. In his visit, he emphasized the shared cultural heritage between California and Spain and current opportunities for deepening economic relationships, including in the areas of transportation, renewable energies, water management, and biotechnologies.

Spain maintains a number of consulates in the U.S., including consulates in Los Angeles and San Francisco. Ambassador Santiago Cabanas Ansorena, stationed in Washington D.C., has served as Spain’s senior representative to the U.S. since September 2018.
